Introduction

The advent of Covid-19 brought about tremendous change and prompted many of us to reexamine how we live. At the same time, we are more and more aware of our environmental impact. Alarm bells are sounding about climate-related issues and we're learning more about how our lifestyle affects our ecosystem and the climate. It's becoming clear that we can—and must—take things into our own hands. The seemingly easy ways of managing our refuse are changing, and even they didn't work very well in the first place. But there are things that we can do!

The Pelham Sustainability Working Group was created to help address local environmental issues. One of our charges is to research the various ways that we can reduce, reuse, repurpose, and recycle our “stuff.” This manual is our first project.

Six of us worked together on this project, and we learned a lot along the way. We're encouraged by how many local opportunities for recycling and repurposing already exist, and we're confident that we can envision even more ways of sustainably dealing with our unwanted stuff. Most importantly, we don't need to address this issue alone. Coming together, creating community, and sharing our collective wisdom and talents is how we will move forward.

How to use this manual: This booklet has two sections. The first is a guide to specific vendors in our community—stores, donation centers, etc.—which accept donated goods and recyclable materials. You can look up individual vendors to see what they take (see Table of Contents) or you can look up an individual item on our Item Index (pages 4-6) to see where it's accepted. The second, shorter section, entitled “Websites and Other Resources,” is a list of resources both within and beyond our area that can help you to find a place for your stuff. In addition to local vendors that accept more specialized donations, this section lists websites for nation-wide recycling organizations that you may find useful.

This booklet is intended to be a dynamic document and we will continue to add to it, working towards a more sustainable world with less stuff polluting our environment. Become part of the experience and remember: we're in this together.

Item Index: Where can I donate/recycle my stuff?

This table lists recyclable/donatable items.

Look across the chart to see where each item can be taken.

Look down the chart (on all three pages) if you want to see what a particular vendor accepts.

Be sure to check the individual vendor pages for restrictions, guidelines, or other limitations.

Items marked with a * are more likely to have restrictions; see the vendor pages for details.

Next Steps & Contact Information

The Sustainability Working Group's initial goal was to create a document specific to Pelham that explains multiple ways to reduce, reuse, recycle, and reimagine what to do with items that we no longer need or want.

We hope that this guide helps you to learn more what to do with your stuff. But this is not the end of our work. This is a living document that will be updated as new methods of dealing with our stuff become available. We would love input from the community and are actively seeking ways to improve this guide, as well as ideas for other environmental actions that we can take. Please contact us at the email address below if you have any ideas!

And stay tuned for our next effort....
